JAROD MILLER,
POPULAR YOUNG TV ANIMAL EXPERT,
HOSTS ANIMAL EXPLORATION WITH JAROD MILLER,
PREMIERING NATIONALLY THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 24, 2007

The new fall season of Litton Entertainment's popular syndicated Exploration series hosted by animal expert and frequent TV guest Jarod Miller, debuts nationally the week of September 24, 2007. Animal Exploration with Jarod Miller is an engaging, energetic journey around the natural world as seen through the eyes of zoologist Jarod Miller and the animals he loves. With his charm, infectious enthusiasm and great TV presence, Jarod is poised to be TV's next big animal star, following in the footsteps of his idols and mentors Marlin Perkins and Jack Hanna.

Animal Exploration with Jarod Miller is a half-hour, action-packed live action program designed to entertain, inspire and inform audiences of all ages. In each episode, cameras follow Jarod to the nearest and farthest corners of the world as he explores the human/animal interaction in the face of an ever-changing world. As the youngest zoo director in history, Jarod has the experience and credentials to introduce audiences to place and animals they may never have seen before.

A passionate, unabashed animal lover, Jarod's unique talents and skills allow audiences to experience animals in new and exciting ways. His freshness, spontaneity and energy virtually pop out of the screen, drawing viewers into the show and making learning about animals fun.

"Jarod Miller is the most pure and entertaining television talent I have seen in 20 years," said Dave Morgan, President and CEO of Litton Entertainment. "The new generation of viewers is searching for the country's next animal ambassador, and Jarod will be hitting the airwaves this fall on America's premiere television stations. He's already got a large following, and counts many major talk show hosts—including Jay Leno, Conan and Matt Lauer—among his fans."

"I am thrilled to share my knowledge and love for animals with viewers of all ages," said Miller. "Each week's adventure is going to be fun, inspiring and always surprising!"

Jarod Miller was born and raised in suburban Western New York, where he collected frogs, snakes, and turtles from a nearby pond. When family vacations were planned, the zoo and the museum were the primary destinations. At age 4, Jarod could identify every animal at the zoo and, in second grade, when asked to write down his favorite animal, he came up with a three-page list of nearly 200 species.

At age 14, Jarod started working with zoos, animal rehabilitators, and other wildlife professionals to develop a small collection of native and exotic specimens. By age 17, he founded his own wildlife education organization and animal sanctuary that he maintains and personally finances to this day. Jarod has a formal education in zoology and animal behavior and has researched and published scientific findings on several wild and captive species. He is also regular guest speaker at zoological parks, universities, and other cultural and wildlife related institutions, and he even brought his animal friends to the White House.

Jarod's love for nature and traveling has led him on many wild adventures: he has been sprayed by baby skunks which he smuggled into his mother's car, charged by a wild cheetah in South Africa, swam with sharks, and has safely handled some of the most dangerous animals in the world.

Like his idols Marlon Perkins and Jack Hanna, Jarod has become a familiar face to TV viewers, appearing regularly on national TV shows to share his vast knowledge and enthusiasm. He has made over 100 guest appearances on national and international television, and has starred in productions for Nickelodeon and Animal Planet networks and is currently a regular guest on various news and entertainment programs, including; The Tonight Show with Jay Leno, Late Night with Conan O'Brien, Last Call with Carson Daly, and The Today Show.
